Biggest Burst Wraps Up 1st Week of Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States wrapped up the first week of its nuclear tests in the Pacific with its third and biggest burst so far in the series—a million-ton blast that flashed through cloudy skies near Christmas Island.

As in the first two tests, the device Wednesday was dropped from a plane. But it was at least twice as strong as either of the earlier shots.

A joint announcement by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission said it was in the low megaton yield range—the explosive equivalent of from one to several million tons of TNT.

The previous shots in Operation Dominic, which got under way one week ago Wednesday, were in the 100,000 to 500,000-ton range.

By contrast, the atom bomb that struck Hiroshima in World War II was rated at 20,000 tons of TNT.

Wednesday's blast thundered over the Pacific at about 8 a. m. test site time, or about 1 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

As nuclear weapons checked the results of the initial clutch of tests and prepared for blast No. 4, a controversy was reported blowing up within the Kennedy administration. The question: What steps should the United States take to halt future nuclear tests after Dominic runs its course.

Some officials advocate that the United States enter a new moratorium on atmospheric tests, a reversal of present policy. Others insist that U. S. security requires a formal test ban agreement under an international inspection system to prevent sneak tests or secret preparations for tests.

Some State Department and White House officials are concerned the dispute may weaken the American bargaining position in the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva.

At the basis of the dispute is concern over policy and propaganda.

Washington authorities are sensitive to demands from overseas for an end to nuclear testing in the atmosphere. Thus, officials say that efforts to improve detection

Bands Show Up Well in State Meet

The Hope Junior and Senior High Bands participated in the State Festival Saturday, April 28 in Hot Springs. Three bus loads of students departed at 5:30 a. m. from the high school and returned to Hope Saturday night about 9:30 p. m.

The Hope students entered 70 events during the day with 22 of them making a first division and 38 made a second division. David Chism was very outstanding on solo entry and Brenda Hicks and Lance Jones were outstanding.

The Junior Band performed well receiving comments of fine and excellent from the judges. The Senior Band was outstanding in its performance, and judges comments were excellent and outstanding in all phases.

One judge remarked that the students play like professionals. This is the most outstanding record achieved by the Hope Bands in many years. Both Jr. and Sr. Bands will be featured in the poultry parade to be held in Hope May 25, and the Sr. Band will present a musical comedy on May 10 and 11.

Red Carpet for Negroes Taking Rides

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisiana Negroes sent west and north by the Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans were looking for jobs today in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York.

While they were settling down in far away places, one of the men responsible for the exodus announced plans for a meeting in New Orleans May 18-19 to consider sponsorship of the movement on a southwide basis.

George Singelmann, a director of the New Orleans Citizens Council, said he was making arrangements for the meeting at the request of Bob Patterson of Greenwood, Miss., national secretary of the Citizens Council of America.

The riders who made the trips reacted in different ways to the plan to give one-way bus fares to Negroes dissatisfied with life in the South.

Negro Alderman Benjamin Lewis of Chicago's 24th ward objected to what he termed "preferential treatment" given two Negroes sent to that city.

Lewis said there are 227,000 Negroes out of work in Chicago; more than the entire Negro population of Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles population was boosted by the arrival of 20 Negroes from New Orleans Wednesday. They were given a tumultuous welcome by nearly 300 members of their race.

The Travelers Aid Society made arrangements to lodge the newcomers in a hotel overnight and then help them find jobs.

Six more jobless and near penniless Negroes arrived in New York.

Roy Hamilton, a 23-year-old truck driver, said he thought Singelmann's plan "has failed miserably. I don't think there'll be many more Negroes to take him up on his offer. Singelmann practically got down on his knees and begged me to come."

Drawbridge Traps, Injures Worker

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A city employee was injured seriously when he became trapped and squeezed in the mechanism of a drawbridge.

It took firemen and police about 20 minutes to free the man, Henry Williams, 59, Wednesday.

Williams was helping to clean a pit beneath the bridge when a signal sounded and the span was raised. His co-workers said Williams started climbing a ladder to the bridge surface instead of flattening himself against a wall.

U. S., Soviet Spacemen Meet Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov and U.S. astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., already associates in high adventure met face to face today.

The meeting was a simple one, with Glenn saying "Hello" as they shook hands and Titov replying "Very pleased to meet you."

The encounter took place on the second floor of the National Academy of Sciences building.

Both spacemen were accompanied by their wives, and at their meeting only a few other people were in attendance including officials from the Soviet Embassy, the National Academy of Sciences and the International Committee on Space Research—Cospar.

Both men had dates to address the space scientists later in the day.

As the two posed for photographers after the salutations, Titov pointed smilingly at the camera men rushing about and said: "Something is going to break down."

And about the only other thing said between the spacemen before a pool reporter had to leave the room was this exchange:

Titov—"We are not trained for delivering speeches."

Glenn, with a grin—"I agree."

The astronauts and their wives had coffee together before the two went downstairs to the library of the academy to register for the third international space symposium of the Cospar organization.

The next item was a sightseeing tour of Washington with Glenn as guide, followed by a chat with President Kennedy at the White House.

In free moments the two hope to talk shop—to learn what the other experienced in his journey around the earth.

Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, went around three times, Titov 17. The first and only other person to make the trip was Soviet Yuri Gagarin who made one orbit.

Glenn and Titov start the day bright and early by registering at National Academy of Sciences for an international meeting on space research where both will speak later. Then Glenn and his wife will take tourist Titov on a swing through town.

The Glenns plan to go wherever Titov wants and may drop in to see Congress in action as well as inspect the Smithsonian Institution, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial and other sightseeing standbys.

Titov's wife is scheduled to take a look at Washington on her own.

After luncheon at the White House, Titov goes to a space meeting at the State Department, then holds a news conference with Lt. Col. Glenn and winds up the day at a reception given by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Quite a day—and Titov was tired after Wednesday's warmup.

Wednesday night Titov, 27, and his wife, Tamara, 24, went to the movies to see "West Side Story" with a large group from the Soviet Embassy.

A smiling and expansive Titov told a news conference at the Soviet Embassy Wednesday that some day Americans and Soviets will fly together to the moon and beyond.

And with a grin, Titov said it was a historical injustice that men were picked for the first trips into space.

"Women have made advances in many sciences," he said. "They can withstand hardships on a higher level than men."

"Justice will come and women will fly to space, especially on the prolonged journeys."

His wife sat in front of him, fingering a ring and relishing every word.

Sharecropper Case Settled at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Consent judgments in federal court have ended lawsuits against 70 landowners accused of evicting Negro sharecroppers who joined a voter registration drive.

The judgments, rendered Wednesday, restrain 50 of the white landowners from violating the 1957 Civil Rights Act. Charges against the other 20 were dropped. All defendants lived in Haywood County, Tenn.

The settlement between the landowners and the Justice Department ended more than a year of litigation in federal courts. Negligent charges against 80 landowners and a bank in Fayette County, Tenn., reportedly are under way.

The Haywood landowners agreed not to interfere with or take economic reprisals against Negroes who try to register to vote in the future, and the government was to drop its federal court orders against the landowners.

The case had been set for trial next Monday.

The dispute began in 1960 when the government filed complaints against the landowners charging them with coercing and intimidating Negroes who tried to register as voters.

The complaints accused the landowners of terminating tenant leases, barring some Negroes from jobs, refusing to sell them provisions, and cutting off sources of credit.

A federal injunction issued April 20, 1961, prohibited 34 landowners from evicting Negro tenant farmers if it was done because of their voter registration activity.

D. L. LaRue, 55, Retired Rail Worker, Dies

David L. LaRue, aged 55, retired Missouri Pacific section foreman, died Wednesday at a Little Rock hospital.

Survivors include his wife, Mabel Schneider LaRue; a son, Elbert L. LaRue of Arkadelphia; a daughter, Mrs. Jim Brase of Sikeston, Mo.; three brothers, Ed of Metropolis, Ill., Frank of Manchester, Mo., Tom LaRue of Delhi, Calif., three sisters, Mrs. Lula Sandusky and Mrs. Opal Nash of Pigott and Mrs. Dora Messer of Corning.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Friday at Unity Baptist Church by Rev. Gordon Renshaw and Rev. Rufus Sorrells. Burial by Herndon-Cornelius will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

21 Die Trying to Escape Reds

BERLIN (AP)—Since the Communists built the wall through Berlin, at least 21 people have been killed trying to escape across it, the West Berlin government reported Wednesday.

The figure covers the period since last Aug. 13, the day the Communists closed the border inside the city. Work on the wall began at that time.

Negro Says Faubus Not Favorable

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An Arkansas Negro organization claiming 50,000 supporting members said Wednesday it believed Gov. Orval E. Faubus would not be favored in the summer Democratic primary by Negro voters.

J. S. McClinton, head of the Arkansas Democratic Voters Association, said his group was "anxious to see what the platform of all the candidates will be" and that the association will hold a series of meetings to determine the views of voters.

McClinton's remarks were made in a statement issued Wednesday after a meeting here of about 20 organization leaders.

He said, "It is our belief that Governor Faubus will not receive any consideration from Negro voters."

McClinton said the association was interested in both the economic and industrial growth of the state as well as its image in the face of the world.

He said the organization has a contributing membership of 2,600, and a supporting membership of about 50,000.

Canadian Dollar Is Devalued

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada devalued its dollar Wednesday night and pegged it at 92½ U.S. cents to give a boost to exports and ease the nation's chronic foreign trade deficit.

The president of the Canadian Manufacturing Association said he was delighted with the export boost but expressed surprise at the new rate, the lowest since Canada adopted a free, floating exchange rate in September 1950.

The Canadian dollar had sold at 95½ cents on the exchanges for the past two months.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said in a statement announcing the new rate the government had taken progressive steps to bring the exchange rate down. The Canadian dollar in August 1956 was worth $1.06 in U. S. currency.

The drop in the rate is expected to give a strong boost to export earnings and to discourage import buying by raising import prices in terms of Canadian dollars.

It will mean, among other things, costlier vacation trips in the United States for Canadians and cheaper ones in Canada for American tourists.

Emmet Class Play Set for Friday

The Emmet Junior Class will present its play, "The Ghost Business," Friday, May 4 at 8 p. m. in the Emmet Gym. Admission will be 25c for students and 50c for adults.

Students participating in the play are Brenda Faulkner, Hazel Gourley, Linda Gourley, Jean Graham, Susan Rowe, Joe Hickey, Larry Reed, Dwight Hampton, Johnny Daniels and Charles Trexler.

Intermission features Rebecca Ward.

Motor-Like Object Is Reported

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A motor-like object blazed across the sky from west to east over the Southeast Wednesday night.

Karl Huizer, professor of astronomy at the University of Chattanooga, said the object probably was a meteor belonging to the orbit of Haley's Comet, due to be seen again in 1965.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas faces a long hot summer of politics with nine candidates for governor—seven Democrats and two Republicans — and contested races for every major state office.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus eased back in the Democratic field less than three hours before the ticket closed at noon Wednesday.

He will face six opponents—including former Gov. Sid McMath—in his bid for a fifth nomination.

A flurry of last-minute filings produced opponents for Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon and Auditor Jimmy Jones.

William Harold Sadler of Little Rock filed as a Republican candidate for governor just before the deadline. He will oppose Willis Harvey Ricketts of Fayetteville. The GOP has not had a contested primary since 1958.

McMath did not file until 30 minutes before the deadline, although he put himself into the race Tuesday night. Another last minute qualifier was David A. Cox of near Weiner.

Faubus, McMath and Cox got into a field which already included Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark.; Marvin Melton of Jonesboro; Kenneth Coffelt of Little Rock and Vernon Whitten of Mount Holly. Wallace Hurley, a Camden printing firm owner, filed against Gordon. W. B. McSwain, a Little Rock dealer in wholesale minnows, filed against Jones, who has not had an opponent since his first race in 1956.

J. H. Mitchell of Batesville filed against Secretary of State Nancy Hall, who is running for treasurer.

Two races — secretary of state and attorney general—drew four candidates each.

Sam Boyce of Tuckerman and David E. Witt of Little Rock filed Wednesday, joining Thorpe Thomas of Little Rock and former Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett of El Dorado in the field.

Boyce and Thomas are assistants to Atty. Gen. Frank Holt, who is running for Supreme Court Position 4. Holt is opposed by J. Fred Jones of North Little Rock.

Avon Phillips of Lonoke, a state Land Department employee, filed for secretary of state Wednesday. Rep. Milton Willis of Van Buren, Kelly Bryant of Hope and Carroll Durham of Wynne qualified previously.

Even before Wednesday, Land Commissioner Sam Jones was opposed by Paul Hanshaw of Jonesboro and Supreme Court Justice George Rose Smith was opposed by J. T. Gentry of Little Rock, a former attorney general, for Position 3.

Winston Chandler of Little Rock filed as a Democratic candidate against Sen. J. W. Fulbright Tuesday. A Republican—Dr. Kenneth G. Jones of Little Rock — filed against them Wednesday.

The GOP also put up candidates in the 3rd and 4th congressional districts. Cy Carney of Fayetteville filed against Rep. Wilbur Mills in the 3rd District and Warren Liebong of Pine Bluff filed against Rep. Oren Harris in the 4th.

Planting of Cotton Is Favorable

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Extensive planting of cotton should begin in Arkansas this week if conditions remain favorable, the Agricultural Extension Service said Wednesday.

The AES estimated that about 65 per cent of the cotton in Crittenden County and 55 per cent in Phillips County has been planted. Over the state, the AES said, about 20 to 25 per cent of the planting has been completed.

Adverse weather delayed ground preparation in portions of the state, the AES said, but "warm weather and timely rains during the past few weeks have made conditions favorable."

Some cotton is up to an early stand.

Rice preparation was reported more than 50 per cent complete in a few counties.

The AES termed the progress of winter grains good and said fall-seeded oats and winter wheat are heading. Only a limited acreage of soybeans has been planted. Peach prospects were reported fair. Strawberry harvest should be in full swing by May 10, with prospects excellent.

The condition of pastures and of dairy and beef herds grazing them were termed good.

School Band Plans 3-Act Musical

Members of Hope High School Band will present a three act musical comedy "Get Up and Go" May 10 and 11 in the school auditorium. The cast will be accompanied by a 10 piece pit orchestra during songs.

Leading roles in the play are held by seniors. Matinee performances will be given on Thursday and Friday, May 10 and 11. A Friday night showing will begin at 8 p. m.

Admission will be 50c and $1. Proceeds will be used to purchase senior awards and records.

U. S. Willing to Give Warheads to West Allies

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The United States was reported today to be willing to share control of its nuclear warheads in Western Europe with a politically strong European union that includes Britain.

The U. S. position was described as a new approach to the years-old discussion of giving the North Atlantic Treaty Organization an independent nuclear strike force.

Qualified Western sources disclosed the new U. S. ideas as foreign and defense ministers prepared to open NATO's annual spring meeting. The defense ministers were to meet this afternoon to study weapons and production problems, among others. The foreign ministers open a three-day review of the allied defense position Friday.

During the past 18 months numerous proposals for a supranational nuclear strike force for the Atlantic alliance have been able to solve the key question: "How many fingers on the trigger?"

Only two fingers are envisioned in the concept of American partnership with the European political union that is the ultimate aim of the six-nation European Common Market. A qualified Western source reported that Washington now was using nuclear armament as an inducement to the six nations — all NATO members — to get on with their political negotiations and to include Britain.

In the view of some Americans, an American offer to share nuclear control with a European authority would achieve these ends:

1. Encourage West Germany and France to let Britain into the Common Market and speed formation of a political authority to manage the Common Market's foreign and defense policies. Britain has started negotiations to join the highly successful economic union and professed a desire to participate in its concurrent political discussions. France and West Germany want to keep Britain out of the political discussions until the economic negotiations are complete. The political talks have bogged down because of Dutch and Belgian refusal to proceed without British participation.
2. Satisfy the West German desire for nuclear armament and forestall the French drive for a separate national nuclear strike force.
3. Give smaller states a voice in nuclear decisions within the NATO framework.

The chorus is under the direction of Gilbert Thomas, minister of music and education of the church. The public is invited to attend, First Baptist Church.

Bradley Okays Bonds

BRADLEY, Ark. (AP)—Voters at Bradley Tuesday approved a $25,000 bond issue and 10-mill tax to help finance construction of a municipal water system. There were 14 votes for the issue and six against. Total cost of the system is estimated at $125,000.

LITTLE 173

4th District. Mills, Harris and Reps. E. C. Gathings in the 1st District and Wilbur Mills in the 2nd District escaped without Democratic opposition.

Coffelt fired the first shot in the governor's race Wednesday night, going on television for 15 minutes to demand a cleanup of "the Faubus gang."

Coffelt promised to wipe out gambling, distribute educational wealth and cut taxes.

He said he was convinced the people want a cleanup and he was the only candidate who could get the job done.

Coffelt also lashed McMath, saying he went out of office with criticism of the acts of "practically the same crowd of political parasites who today compose the Faubus gang."

But Coffelt wasn't the only one getting in campaign strokes on the last filing day. Faubus hit at McMath and Melton by saying "I do not wish to see either A. B. Bonds or Virgil Blossom brought back to the state to replace Arch Ford as commissioner of education."

Bonds was education commissioner under McMath and Blossom, superintendent of schools in Little Rock during the 1957 integration controversy, is Melton's brother-in-law.

Melton said Faubus already is running in desperation and said "It is not my intention to put my family or my in-laws on the state payroll. The present administration cannot make that statement."

McMath said he was sure Bonds would not want to come back to Arkansas because he had a $25,000-a-year job as president of Baldwin-Wallace University in Ohio. Blossom is superintendent of schools in San Antonio, Tex.

Faubus also said that Melton as a state senator in 1952, introduced the "Relative Responsibility Law" affecting welfare benefits.

The law was repealed in 1955 after Faubus took office. "I do not want to see re-enacted a law to compel the old people to sue their children in court before they can draw a welfare check, nor a regulation put back in force to stop them from making a garden or selling newspapers in order to keep a welfare grant," Faubus said.

Faubus said the 1952 Highway Audit Committee report might be an issue this summer. He predicted that McMath would be criticized for disagreeing with Faubus' sending National Guard troops to block integration at Little Rock Central High School.

McMath pointed out that criticism of his administration would imply criticism of Faubus, since he was an executive aide, then highway director, and of Arnold Sikes, Faubus' executive secretary, who was purchasing agent in the McMath administration.

McMath said Faubus "would know the facts about" the Highway Audit Commission report, since he was highway director and a member of the Highway Commission.

Gov. Denies He's Captive Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today persons circulating rumors that he is a captive candidate in the governor's race "will have quite a time making the people believe that."

Reports were circulating that Faubus was coerced into seeking a fifth term against his will. "I can handle those reports with one word," Faubus said, "propaganda!"

Faubus said the general public would be surprised if it knew how often he rejects requests from persons under whose influence he is supposed to be.

"I tell them no quite often," he said. "Some of them have sense enough to keep their mouths shut and to come back later and ask for something else which I may be able to give them. Others go off complaining and don't come back."

Faubus said he would not immediately name a successor to purchasing agent Mack Sturgis, who went to work for the Highway Department May 1. He said Robert Huggins, a veteran employee in the purchasing office, would be acting department head.

Tokyo Train Wreck Kills 83 Persons

TOKYO (AP) — Two electric commuter trains, coming from opposite directions, piled into a derailed freight tonight, killing 83 persons and injuring 147.

Police said they expected the death toll to rise. Most of the injured were in serious condition.

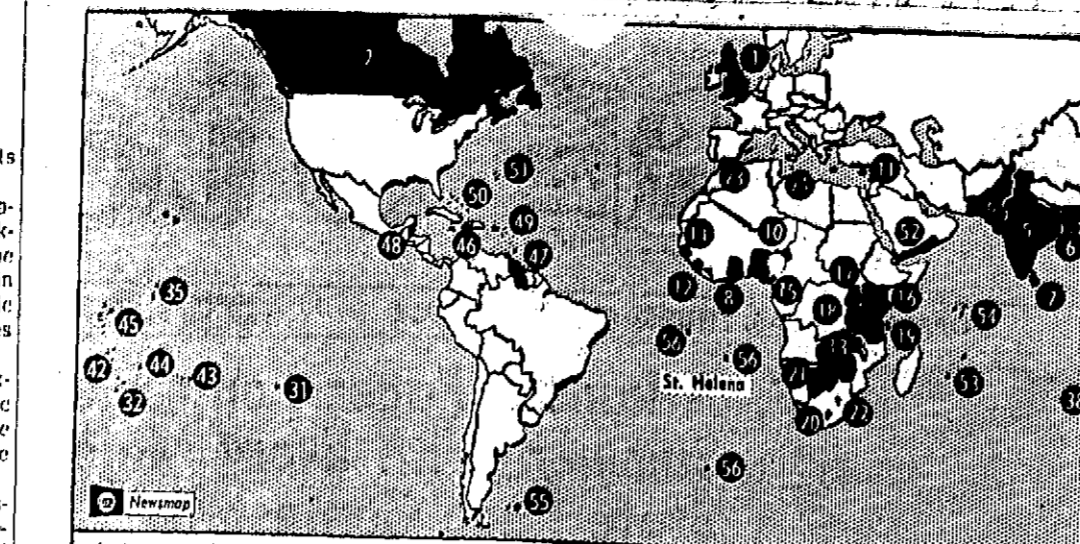

Three hours after the violent accident, rescue workers still were boring into the twisted wreckage.

Railway officials said the freight arrived at Mikawashima station in northeastern Tokyo ahead of schedule and derailed after being shunted to a siding.

The incoming and outgoing Japan National Railway commuter trains smashed into the wreckage. The inbound train plunged into a ravine and demolished a large storehouse. One person in the house was reported killed.

Ross Dependency

THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH—The Commonwealth bears little resemblance to the empires of the past. Queen Elizabeth II said on Christmas Day 1953. "It is an entirely new conception—built on the highest qualities of man: friendship, loyalty and the desire for freedom and peace." Since 1931, when the Statute of Westminster formed the modern British Commonwealth out of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, eight other countries have become full members. The most recent of these are Cyprus and Sierra Leone, both in 1961. Dependents of the various countries are also members of the Commonwealth, of which Queen Elizabeth is the symbolic head. Newsmap above shows the world-wide distribution of the members and the many dependencies and territories. Not shown are territories in Antarctica and numerous small, uninhabited islands.

Says Defeat May Bring Future Win

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Northern backers of a bill designed to prevent racial discrimination in voter literacy tests said today if they lose this fight their hand may be strengthened for future civil rights battles.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., members of a bipartisan, self-styled liberal bloc, spoke in separate interviews as debate on the disputed measure rolled into its ninth day.

At issue is a move by the Senate leaders, Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, to pass legislation exempting any citizen with a sixth-grade education from having to pass a state literacy test as a requirement to vote in a federal election.

Dirksen told the Senate Wednesday the bill is needed to curb what he called intolerable abuse of literacy tests to prevent Negroes from registering and voting in some areas. The Republican leader also contended the measure is constitutional—a point disputed by Guard Bureau to protest the suggestion of a cutback.

The Defense Department appropriations bill, as passed by the House before Easter, carries $47.8 billion for the defense department and military services. It includes money for operations of the National Guard for the year starting July 1.

There is no indication when the bill will reach the Senate floor. The measure first will be gone over in detail by the senate appropriations committee.

The matter is of considerable interest to several Arkansas communities, including Jonesboro and Stuttgart, with large national guard units.

Quits Commission
WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP)—W. K. (Bill) Ingram resigned Wednesday as a member of the state Racing Commission. Ingram, who was named to the commission by Gov. Orval Faubus in 1961, said he was resigning to devote more time to his construction business and to local civic work.

by Southern opponents. Mansfield and Dirksen are moving to force test votes Wednesday on the measure. Preliminary nose counts indicate it is uncertain whether they can muster the two-thirds majority vote needed to clamp a filibuster-ending time limit on the debate.

It takes two-thirds of the senators present and voting to invoke the time limit, known as cloture. Javits said that "more and more this is developing into a fight over whether it is possible to get cloture on any civil rights bill under the Senate rules. It has never been done before, but there is a chance for a breakthrough."

96 Killed as Riots Spread in Algiers

By BERNARD J. LALLAVALLE
ALGIERS (AP)—Moslem dockworkers today boycotted the waterfront where at least 96 dockers were killed in a bomb blast planted by the European secret army.

The strike brought the port to a standstill. Seven ships were waiting to be unloaded and others were anchored in the outer harbor.

The underground extremists fighting to keep Algeria French kept up their terror campaign to day with bombings and robberies. Two violent explosions wrecked a Moslem medical insurance office near the Algiers Casbah and two post offices were held up and robbed of about 28,000 francs ($600).

There were no immediate reports of casualties. The explosions occurred before the building opened for business. During office hours it is usually crowded with Moslems collecting government insurance payments for medical expenses.

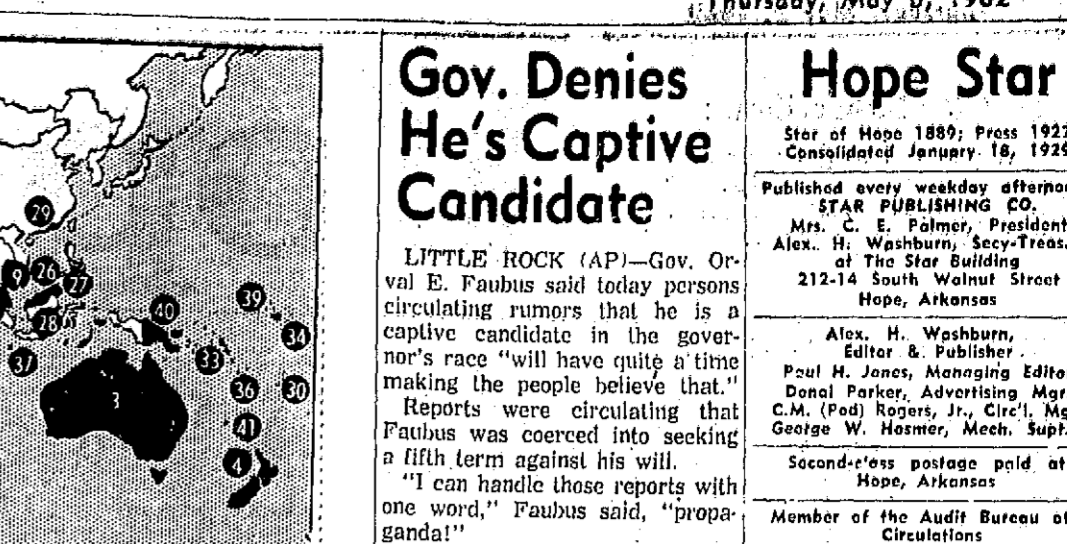

The new terrorist action followed one of the bloodiest days in Algeria since rebellion erupted in the territory more than seven years ago. Officials reported 110 persons were killed and 147 wounded Wednesday in Algiers and Oran. Almost all were Moslem victims of the Secret Army.

Algerian Nationalist leaders strove to hold back enraged Moslems from wreaking vengeance against the European extremists out to wreck the cease-fire reached by President Charles de Gaulle and the rebels March 19.

The savagery of the terrorists' attacks in Algeria's two biggest cities was clearly designed to provoke a civil war to block Algerian independence.

At least 96 Moslems were killed and 140 wounded in one blow when a booby-trapped car loaded with 40 pounds of explosives and shrapnel exploded among 1,500 Moslems crowded around a dockside hiring hall.

Gov. Denies He's Captive Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today persons circulating rumors that he is a captive candidate in the governor's race "will have quite a time making the people believe that."

Reports were circulating that Faubus was coerced into seeking a fifth term against his will. "I can handle those reports with one word," Faubus said, "propaganda!"

Faubus said the general public would be surprised if it knew how often he rejects requests from persons under whose influence he is supposed to be.

"I tell them no quite often," he said. "Some of them have sense enough to keep their mouths shut and to come back later and ask for something else which I may be able to give them. Others go off complaining and don't come back."

Faubus said he would not immediately name a successor to purchasing agent Mack Sturgis, who went to work for the Highway Department May 1. He said Robert Huggins, a veteran employee in the purchasing office, would be acting department head.

Tokyo Train Wreck Kills 83 Persons

TOKYO (AP) — Two electric commuter trains, coming from opposite directions, piled into a derailed freight tonight, killing 83 persons and injuring 147.

Police said they expected the death toll to rise. Most of the injured were in serious condition.

Three hours after the violent accident, rescue workers still were boring into the twisted wreckage.

Railway officials said the freight arrived at Mikawashima station in northeastern Tokyo ahead of schedule and derailed after being shunted to a siding.

The incoming and outgoing Japan National Railway commuter trains smashed into the wreckage. The inbound train plunged into a ravine and demolished a large storehouse. One person in the house was reported killed.

Peyote Cult Defies All Opponents

By BOB HARING
TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Peyote is both a cactus and a religion—and a vestige of ancient Indian culture which still resists the white man's encroachment.

Few white men have ever seen a Peyote ceremony, but many have tried to eliminate the Indian religious practice which involves eating parts of the Peyote cactus. Missionaries and others have denounced the Peyote ceremony as a pagan ritual.

But practitioners of Peyote deny this and they have some support from white men.

Dr. Sol Tax, a University of Chicago anthropologist and one of the few white men ever to attend a Peyote ritual, called it one of the most wonderful religious experiences he ever had. And a University of Oklahoma anthropologist, Dr. William E. Bittle, called Peyote a panacea to a large number of Indian ills.

It is estimated that Peyote has 130,000 followers in this country and that 20,000 of Oklahoma's 190,000 Indians attend Peyote ceremonies.

The plant itself is a green, spineless cactus which resembles a small carrot. Peyote services usually are held on a Saturday night.

Worshippers usually number 12 to 21 persons. The leader takes a seat facing east. Others are seated on hay and blankets around the teepee.

A cedar fire burns in the middle of the area. A bowl of Peyote, tobacco and corn husks are brought in after the leader is seated. Then the boys bring cold drinking water and each participant drinks from a gourd, while the leader explains the purpose of the meeting.

Peyote services usually are held for specific purpose, such as an illness. The Indians smoke tobacco rolled in cornhusks and take Peyote. Then a leader gives an inspirational talk. Others repeat old teachings of the good life and of wisdom and knowledge.

Sunday, a dinner is given and members of the surrounding community join in eating with the Peyote participants.

Should He Confess to Wife?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I must tell my troubles to someone. A relative of my wife is driving me looney. She's after me all the time. One day, when my wife was down town, working at her office job, I gave into this Lorelei and, as a result, am now living a life of hell. The woman continues to pursue me, even though I tell her to leave me alone.

I made one big mistake and am very sorry for it. I love my wife and children. My wife guesses that something is amiss, tries as I will to convince her otherwise. The louder I shout, the less comonies.

The plant itself is a green, spineless cactus which resembles a small carrot.

Peyote services usually are held on a Saturday night.

Sunday, a dinner is given and members of the surrounding community join in eating with the Peyote participants.

she believes me. Every day I jump down her throat and threaten to leave her if she doesn't quit making up lies about me. All she does is shake her head, smile her Mona Lisa smile and leave the room. This breaks my heart. If I could only explain what happens to a man when a vampire like this relative gets hold of him.

Should I make a clean breast of the whole shoddy affair and take a chance of losing my wife? She says she is trying to trust me but the little things she sees make it impossible. I am 35, my wife 32 and this vamp 40. She had her trap set long before her husband died. I am like a fly caught in a spider's web. This has reduced me to a nervous wreck and since I am a draftsman in a big company, my work suffers. What fellow could have a steady hand and be in my predicament? If I continue shaky I shall lose my job, which is our livelihood. Can you toss a rope to a drowning man?

—Miserable

Dear Miserable: The load of guilt which you carry only adds to your emotional confusion. What you need is a dose of self-confidence to build up your ego. Suppose you did stray from the straight and narrow. It wouldn't be the first time a man slipped. Your difficulty may be that, way down deep, you don't want to give up this other woman. Perhaps, though you won't admit it—even to yourself, your marital relationship is not entirely satisfactory.

This could be the real crux of your problem. Instead of blaming the other woman, face yourself. The very fact that you want to stick by your wife and children is a step in the right direction. Have the courage to tell the siren off. Say, "This is it. Goodbye!" and mean it. Be a man!

Dear Helen: My mother passed away last summer, leaving me completely alone. Shortly afterward I married a boy I'd known most of my life. Things went fine the first few months, then my husband started staying out all night on weekends.

One Monday I came in from hanging out the wash and found he'd packed his bag and gone for good. That near finished me because I was carrying his baby and thought he loved me.

He says he left because of my sloppy housekeeping. After all I am only 19 and find house work, holding down a job and being a wife a hard assignment. I'll keep the home the way my husband wants if he'll only give me another chance. He says that's impossible now—though admits to still loving me. If I'm willing to forgive, why can't he? Do you think he should make another try for baby's sake, as well as ours? Please print this for he reads your column—Broken-hearted.

Dear Broken-hearted: Your husband is behaving like a child. It takes an adult mind to realize that life is a compromise. Of the two, you are more mature but weak in attempting to find an alibi for your poor housekeeping and being over-tolerant about your husband's irresponsible fade-outs.

The first time he stayed away all night you should have shown some spunk. A willingness to forgive is all very fine but only if he promises to do his part too. If necessary, start suit? Stop taking it on the chin. He'll respect you, as never before! My leaflet on "Better Home Management" goes to you today.

Dear Helen: Would you suggest some civilized things to do at a party consisting of 14 and 15 year olds? The party I'm planning is for boys and girls—though nothing special. A parent will chaperone it. I read your column but seldom find a problem such as mine.—M. L.

Dear M. L.: It depends upon the season of the year, the weather, and the space. Keep the plans flexible. As with most things in life, there's spice in variety and surprise. If the evening is warm, serve supper on the lawn and dance afterward to record-playing on the porch, or patio. If you live in an apartment, put your guests to work in the kitchen. Give each an apron and let them help prepare the buffet supper. Should there be no room for dancing, play charades or some other guessing game afterwards. Prizes, however inconsequential, given a party.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write

Hard to Judge Best TV Show of the Year

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—What kind of a yardstick can be used to decide whether "The Judy Garland Show," "Victoria Regina" or "Biography of a Bookie Joint" was the better television program?

Is it fair to judge the performances of Carol Burnett on "The Gary Moore Show" and Perry Como in the same terms and in the same category with Judy Garland, Edie Adams and Yves Montand who starred in one-shot variety specials?

Who gets the short end when voters must say whether the best television drama of the season was a series ("Ben Casey," "The Defenders," "The Dick Powell Show"), one program in an anthology series ("People Need People" in "Premiere") or an adaptation of a Broadway hit, "Victoria Regina"?

The above are among the nominations for "Emmys," the little statuettes which are television's for "Manners And oung People."

Dorothy Dix is a registered trademark. A Bell Syndicate Feature

equivalent of motion pictures' "Oscars." Five nominees have been made in each of 27 different categories—result of a massive effort to reduce the total number. But the big problem—pitting programs and performers of widely varying types against each other—still remains to be solved.

Between now and May 22—when the "Emmy Show" will be presented on NBC—the 6,000 members of National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences will be balloting for the winners.

But, to take the "the program of the year" category for an example, how can one say that "The Judy Garland Show," however great, was superior to "Biography of a Bookie Joint"? One was a brilliant hour of variety and singing. The other was a fine example of journalistic enterprise.

Perhaps some day the knotty awards situation can be untangled. But until then, the presentation ceremonies will continue to be—no matter how long-winded and downright dull—among the most popular programs aired. Last month's "Oscar" awards program, in spite of being a two-hour yawn, turned up at the top of the most recent Nielsen rating, far outdistancing its closest competitor in the size of the audience it attracted.

President's Interference Bears Fruit

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's policy with big unions and big industry—suggesting the kind of contract they should sign—has been a form of government interference. Now it has borne new fruit.

In the recent steel negotiations his policy could be considered indirect interference. He simply suggested a noninflationary contract which would not trigger a spiral of wage-price increases.

That he would stick the government's nose into labor-management negotiations even that much was resented by some people. His excuse for doing so was this: Since big unions and big industries affect the public welfare, when they raise prices and wages they have a responsibility to consider the public.

Tuesday night at the White House the President's Advisory Committee on Labor and Management—composed of representatives of labor, industry, the public, and government—made recommendations going farther than Kennedy.

It proposed changing the present Taft-Hartley Act so that when a labor-management dispute threatens to cause a national emergency—by ultimate strike or lockout—the President can do this: Set up a board which, after studying the situation, will recommend the terms of settlement. The T-H law doesn't go that far. The board provided for under T-H can only report facts, it can't recommend.

How did this committee, particularly since it has labor and management members, come to suggest that the government be given even more power than it has now to settle union-industry disputes?

It bought what Kennedy has been preaching and, in so doing, backed him up. It said that collective bargaining must be free but it must also be responsive to the public interest.

Collective bargaining has never been absolutely free in this country since the passage of the Wagner Labor Act in 1935.

So a company was not free not to bargain. Then in 1947 the Taft-Hartley Act took away some more freedom. For example, by laying down various rules and regulations as stumbling blocks to big strikes.

All this was done in the public interest and to protect both labor and management from each other's atrocities. Democrats and Republicans voted for it. Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was its father.

Since then, as with so many conditions involving American freedom, public and congressional vigilance has been directed against diminishing labor-management freedom except where considered necessary for the general welfare.

From the foundation of the republic, when any question of government interference with any kind of freedom is involved, the big dispute always spins around the basic question: Is it necessary?

In this case the President's committee—which proposed other T-H changes also—thinks it is for the sake of the general welfare. Henry Ford II, a member of the committee, disagreed.

He opposed almost all the suggested changes and particularly said that "fact-finding boards with power to recommend terms of settlement would be both unjustified and unwise."

He added: "I believe that collective bargaining must be free and responsible, not free if responsible."

The rest of the committee made it plain it disagrees with those last four words by its recommendations which are intended to keep labor and management responsible by making them a little less free.

The Wagner Act and the T-H Act are evidence that the public, acting through Congress, is determined to keep labor and management responsible to some extent by putting controls on the actions and procedures of both.

CENTAUR BEFORE SOARING—National Aeronautics and Space Administration's newest space vehicle, the Centaur, stands ready on its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. The two-stage rocket measures 10 feet in diameter and 105 feet in height and weighs 150 tons at lift-off. The first stage is a modified Atlas D booster with a thrust of about 367,000 pounds. Two 15,000-pound-thrust engines power the second stage. Centaur will eventually be used as a launcher for earth satellites and moon and planet probes.

JFK Advised on Settling Rail Dispute

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is due to get an advisory board's recommendations today for settling another big labor pay case, this one involving the bulk of the employees of the nation's railroads.

The report will deal with the wage increase demands of unions representing 450,000 rail workers, the same number of workmen involved in the recent steel labor controversy.

Even before receiving the report from the three-man presidential emergency board, named to try to head off a possible rail strike, the railroad industry had directed an appeal to the White House to disallow as inflationary any increase the board may recommend. The carriers demanded a wage cut.

The unions complained that the industry's public statements coming just in advance of the report were unethical and comparable to "trying to influence a judge while he has a case under consideration."

All this presaged rough going ahead, no matter what the board may recommend, in the 30-day period allotted under the Railway Labor Act for negotiations on the basis of the board's findings before a strike can be called. Members of the 11 rail unions involved have already authorized walkouts.

The report due today deals with claims of the nonoperating workers who service and maintain the rail system. They compose about two-thirds of all rail employees.

The carriers have a hot dispute running, too, with the operating unions—the engineers, firemen and others who man the trains. This relates primarily to industry demands to eliminate firemen from

Giants Come Up With a 3M Combination

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants have come up with a formidable three M combination—Mays, Marichal and Monteali—thats got them sitting atop the National League with their longest winning streak since the club moved west in 1958.

The Giants stretched their victory string to eight games Wednesday, whipping Pittsburgh 3-2 on a homer by Willie Mays that snapped a 2-2 tie and provided Juan Marichal with the run he needed.

It was home run No. 6 for Mays, who has hit four in the last seven games while swinging away at a .400 clip.

Marriage has been even more of a help to Marichal, 24. The fireballing right-hander who broke into the majors by hurling a one-hitter settled down domestically before the season started and has settled down on the mound since the season opened.

The victory over the Pirates, sending them to their sixth loss in eight games, was Marichal's fourth in six decisions, and his third complete game. He was 13-10 for the 1961 campaign.

In the only other games played, Bob Gibson hurled a five-hitter for St. Louis that throttled Houston 4-1 and Bob Buhl and Don Elston combined for a three-hitter as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1. The Cincinnati-New York and Milwaukee-Philadelphia games were rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees won their seventh in a row, beating the Chicago White Sox 4-3. Baltimore edged Minnesota 6-5 and Kansas City outslugged Detroit 12-8. The Boston-Washington and Los Angeles-Cleveland games were postponed by rain and wet grounds.

Marichal gave up the two runs in the first inning on Bob Skinner's homer, then shut out the Pirates on four hits the rest of the way. The Giants tied it against Earl Francis (1-2) in the fifth on a single by Felipe Alou. Jose Pagan's double and a single by Jim Davenport. Mays won it in the sixth.

Gibson (2-1), who limited the Colts to two hits last week, allowed a run on Jim Fendleton's homer in the second inning. The Cardinals then went ahead to stay in the fourth with three runs on Bill White's homer, a single by Ken Boyer, a two-base error by Al Spangler on Minnie Minoso's line drive, a fielder's choice play and Julio Gotay's squeeze bunt that went for a hit. The victim was Ken Johnson (0-4).

Buhl (1-1), making his first appearance since the Cubs acquired him in a trade with Milwaukee, allowed the Dodgers only two hits for six innings—both in the first. Elston came on when Buhl appeared to tire. The Cubs wrapped it up on Andre Rodgers' two-run double in the fourth and added an insurance tally in the seventh on Jim McKnight's run-scoring single. Wally Moon's homer accounted for the lone Dodger run.

TV's Must Get All Channels

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to require that all new television sets be built to receive 82 channels was passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the Senate.

The 279-90 roll call vote followed a voice vote of approval in the House Tuesday.

The measure would require television set manufacturers shipping in interstate commerce to provide for reception of the 70 ultra high frequency channels as well as for the 12 very high frequency channels most commonly used.

At present there are only 103 UHF stations, whereas the 70 UHF channels would provide room for 1,544 stations.

The First Lady showed up at the Capitol Tuesday for the annual luncheon of the Senate wives Red Cross unit. She was wearing her hair wide and bouffant at the sides, but there were no bangs. She wore a small black velvet bow in front to go with her gray and white houndstooth checked suit.

A spokesman said Tuesday the move was designed to protect defense contracts carrying racial non-discriminatory employment clauses.

Elston's Homer Gives Yanks 7th Straight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"They can't get me out."

That's Elston Howard's credo. The rangy New York Yankee catcher doesn't say it with cockiness, but with quiet confidence. It was his simple explanation last year with his dazzling .348 average, and again this spring when he started off the season in rapid-fire style.

Now, after a slight skid, Howard is hot again. He powered the Yankees over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night, 4-3, with a ninth inning home—his second in as many games and fourth of the season. It was the seventh successive victory for the Yankees now 2½ games to the front in the American League.

In the other AL night game, Kansas City cut loose against Detroit and outscored the Tigers 12-8. Prize rookie John Powell smashed a pair of two-run homers for Baltimore as the Orioles beat Minnesota 6-5 Wednesday afternoon. Bad weather knocked out the two other games on the schedule—Boston at Washington and Los Angeles at Cleveland.

In the National League—San Francisco ran its winning string to eight, edging Pittsburgh 3-2. St. Louis tripped Houston 4-1 and Chicago snapped a losing slump at seven games with a 3-1 decision over Los Angeles. Cincinnati at New York and Milwaukee at Philadelphia were rained out.

White Sox rookie Joel Horlen (1-2) turned back Howard his first three times up and held the Yanks to five hits as he took a 3-2 lead into the ninth. Then Yogi Berra opened up with a double and Howard promptly cashed in on his last chance with an opposite field homer into Comiskey Park's right field seats.

Yankee starter Ralph Terry doled out only three hits but trailed 3-2 when he gave way in the seventh to Jim Coates (2-0), who checked the White Sox on one single over the last three innings. Al Smith was the nemesis for both New York pitchers with a triple, single, two runs batted in and one scored against Terry and the lone hit off Coates.

The Athletics whacked left-hander Don Mossi (2-3) and reliever Sam Jones for 11 hits and 10 runs in four innings and wound up their barrage against Ron Kline. Gino Cimoli kept up his boiling for the A's, opening their seven-run second with a triple, climaxing it with a two-run double, and adding another double later.

All told, Kansas City banged out 15 hits—including homers by Norm Siebern and Wayne Causey. Al Kaline and Dick Brown had a homer plus two singles each for the Tigers, while Bill Bruton hit a homer and a Jake Hood counted three singles. Rookie John Wyatt (2-1) picked up the victory in relief.

Almost lost in all the slugging was Vic Wertz's fifth straight pinch hit—a single in the seventh—tying the league record.

Powell, 20, bombed his first two major league homers and decided the Orioles' close one over the Twins. He poled a 370-footer to right against southpaw Jim Kaat (1-3) in the third and gave Baltimore a 6-0 lead with a 340 foot homer to left off right hander Ted Sadowski in the fifth. Jackie Brandt drove in the Orioles' other two runs with a bases-filled walk and a triple, and also hit a double.

Skinny Brown (1-2) was the winner with help from Dick Hall. The Twins chased Brown with a four-run spurge in the sixth and Doug Mincer put them even closer with a homer off Hall in the seventh.

Porks Ready for Game Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

The University of Arkansas football squad scheduled its last workout today before its Red-White game here Saturday.

Coach Frank Broyles sent the team through a three-hour scrimmage Wednesday, longest of the spring practice, then said he was disappointed in its knowledge of defense tactics.

The Red-White game Saturday, first of two to be played, will be before U. of A. students and Razorback Club members only. The second game, at Little Rock May 12, will be open to the public.

Both games may be played, without the services of Tommy Brasher, El Dorado linchbacker suffering with an old knee injury that kept him out of the Sugar Bowl game.

Most of the Wednesday scrimmage was held to defense work.

Finds Bozooka in Back Yard

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—When Joe Thomas spied a bazooka rocket lying in a puddle in his back yard Wednesday, he lost no time notifying police.

They in turn notified the Army at Camp Robinson, which backs up Thomas' yard, and within a few minutes, the police officers surrounded the rocket while Army officers examined it.

It was a practice shell, about two feet long and four inches in diameter and not dangerous. Police took it to headquarters as a curio.

"It gave us and the neighbors a good scare," Thomas said. He figures the rocket washed down a drainage ditch from the camp.

Contract Let for Bank Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Army Engineers awarded Wednesday individual income tax returns filed by Arkansas taxpayers increased by 22,100 during the first four months of 1962.

The IRS said 469,567 returns were filed during the period, compared to 447,387 during the same four months in 1961.

Fred W. Johnson, district IRS director, said a study would be made to determine the reason for the increase.

Compromise on College Bill Likely

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The way was clear today for a try at a House-Senate compromise on a bill to provide $1.5 billion in federal aid to build college class rooms.

The House Rules Committee removed its roadblock Wednesday after being assured that House participants in a joint conference would not accept a $900-million scholarship provision in the Senate bill.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, 79, D-Va., chairman of the rules committee, readily admitted he initiated the proceedings whereby his committee sought to dictate the terms under which the House bill could be sent to conference.

The House passed a bill last Jan. 30 providing $300 million a year for five years in grants and loans for the construction of academic facilities. A scholarship provision had been stricken in advance by sponsors of the bill because heavy opposition to it threatened the entire measure.

The Senate, following President Kennedy's request for student aid, provided for 212,500 federal scholarships in the bill it passed Feb. 6. The construction section carried the same amount of money as the House bill but it was all for loans, with no grants.

Rules committee approval was needed to send the bill to conference. Smith, who was one of those opposing scholarships, took no official action.

He disclosed Wednesday, however, that he sought out Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, two weeks ago and got his private assurance that the House would stand firm against scholarship provision in conference. Powell would be chairman of the House conferees.

Ark. G&F Builds for Sportsmen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When Lake Conway was completed in 1948, many sportsmen thought state owned fishing facilities were an expensive frill unnecessary in angling-rich Arkansas.

Fourteen years and 16 lakes later, nobody in Arkansas complains about too much fishing. In fact, the Game and Fish Commission's program of developing public fishing areas has become one of the state's chief "bragging" points.

With population and leisure time increasing, other states have jumped on the bandwagon pioneered in Arkansas which provides low-cost recreational opportunities for large numbers of people.

Fishing always has been the No. 1 sport in Arkansas. Streams and natural lakes provided the original basic ingredients and these were enhanced by impoundments created by the Corps of Engineers and private industry.

However, Central Arkansas was notably devoid of "fishing holes" within short driving distance and after World War II a move began to create an artificial lake in the area. Sportsmen contributed about $36,000 for land acquisition in Faulkner County and the Game and Fish Commission began work on Lake Conway.

The 6,700-acre lake was completed in 1948 and became an immediate success. It has been a consistent fish producer and still gets a big play from fishermen, although competing impoundments have been completed in the area since then.

The Lake Conway operation has set the pattern for most of the other state built lakes. It is primarily for fishing, and scientific fish management policies have been developed there.

The lake regularly undergoes a "drawdown", in which the water level is reduced and undesirable rough fish are removed. By killing unwanted fish and stocking game fish, a desirable balance is maintained.

Demand for other Game and Fish Commission lakes was immediate and since 1948 the state either has built or acquired as gifts the following:

- Lake Atkins, 752 acres, Conway County.
- Harris Brake, 1,300 acres, Perry County.
- Sugar Loaf Lake, 334 acres, Sebastian County.
- Lake Wilhelmina, 300 acres, Polk County.
- Halowell Reservoir, 600 acres, Arkansas County.
- White Oak Lake, 2,600 acres, Ouachita and Nevada Counties.
- Tri-County Lake, 280 acres, Calhoun County.
- Crystal Lake, 25 acres, Benton County.

Whole Wheat-Flake Crepes

Chicken filled whole wheat flake crepes are an easy gourmet treat that will add glamour to a springtime luncheon. Complete the menu with fresh asparagus and Bermuda onion salad, bran muffins, and pineapple wedges with fresh strawberries. Such a spring luncheon is bound to bring you compliments.

Versatile breakfast cereals not only add variety and interest to your cooking, but they increase the nutritive value by the addition of protein, B vitamins, and minerals.

Whole Wheat-Flake Crepes

- | | |
|---|--|
| Filling and Sauce | Crepes |
| 1/4 cup chopped onion | 1 teaspoon chervil |
| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese |
| 1 can (10 1/2 ounce) cream of mushroom or celery soup | 1 tablespoon diced pimiento |
| 1/4 cup milk | 1 cup coarsely chopped cooked chicken |
| 1 cup prepared pancake mix | 3 tablespoons cooking oil or melted shortening |
| 2 cups milk | 1 1/2 cups whole wheat flakes, crushed to make 1 cup |
| 2 eggs | |

Make filling and sauce. Sauté onion in butter or margarine until soft, not brown. Add soup, milk, and chervil; stir and heat. Add cheese and pimiento; stir until cheese is melted. Add pimiento and chicken to 1 cup soup mixture. Keep chicken mixture and sauce warm while making crepes. Make crepes. Combine pancake mix, milk, eggs, and oil or shortening. Beat until smooth. Stir in cereal flakes. Pour 1/4 cup batter onto moderately-hot griddle; cook until brown on one side, edges dry and top covered with bubbles. Turn; cook second side. Spread crepes with chicken filling; roll up. Arrange on serving dish and top with remaining sauce. Yield: 4 to 6 servings (2 to 3 crepes per serving).

Deficits May Come 5th Year in Row

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's budget director told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today that the Kennedy administration's policies, "unless abruptly changed, are likely to produce four consecutive deficits."

Maurice H. Stans, now president of Western Bancorporation, San Francisco, said businessmen must take an active personal interest in politics if they are concerned over "near-confiscatory taxes" and budget policies which "are an open invitation to a crisis for the dollar."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., predicted the fiscal 1963 budget, for which President Kennedy forecast a scant surplus, will show "another deficit of $4 to $5 billion."

Both speeches were prepared for the Chamber's 50th annual meeting here.

Byrd told the 4,000 businessmen-delegates: "If such a deficit should develop next year, the three year deficit would total $15 billion or more. This would be reminiscent of the huge deficits of 1958-59."

Both Stans and Byrd called for action to stem the drain of gold and correct the U.S. deficit in international payments. Of the $16.6 billion in remaining gold stocks, Byrd said, nearly $12 billion are required as a backing for the currency but the drain is continuing.

"How much longer can we continue to be Santa Claus for the free world, banker for the free world, and policeman for the free world?" Byrd asked. "When will Judgment Day come? Perhaps it is approaching faster than we realize?"

Stans suggested that businessmen should work harder for the election of candidates "whose views are closest to yours."

Stans also declared: "Despite new fancy theories of balancing the budget over the (business) cycles, we have gone in the red 26 times in the last 32 years and have paid our bills without borrowing only six times."

"The policies of the present administration, unless abruptly changed, are likely to produce four consecutive deficits."

"A large part of the increase in federal spending and debt is the result of a massive assumption of responsibility by the government for cradle-to-grave welfare."

In an address Monday, Kennedy told the Chamber delegates: "We have many burdens in Washington—we do not want the added burden of determining individual prices for individual products."

It was the President's first speech to a business group since he forced eight steel companies to back down in mid-April on an announced price increase of $6 a ton.

Since then several business leaders have expressed fear and suspicion of possible future government actions in the wage-price field. Kennedy tried to allay these fears.

Whether the President soothes feathers ruffled by his actions in his battle with the steel companies could not be determined. Most delegates said he seemed to be trying to be conciliatory, but they weren't sure he had succeeded.

Water Bids Taken

MINERAL SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Southland Construction Co. of Texarkana and Carlless Well Supply Co. of Memphis are apparent low bidders on construction of sewerage and water improvements here. The bid of the Southland firm was $87,744 for the sewerage system and disposal plant. The Carlless firm bid $11,587 on a new water well.

Milestone in Career of Gary Moore

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas Garrison Morfit had a profound feeling of gratitude this week.

The reason: Thomas Garrison Morfit—better known to millions as Gary Moore—reached an historic milestone in a fabulous career. He performed in his 5,000th national network broadcast.

"All I ask is to be allowed to continue," said Gary, who quit school in Baltimore back in 1935 to become a radio continuity writer.

There is no immediate hurry in the industry to dust off a place on the shelf for Moore, he remains, after 27 years in radio and 12 in television, one of the biggest profit-producing performers in the entertainment field.

His shows are estimated to bring to Columbia Broadcasting System an annual income of between $15 million and $20 million. This puts him on a par with, or ahead of, such other network money-winners as Arthur Godfrey, Art Linkletter, Dave Garroway and Ed Sullivan.

"I must be extraordinarily fortunate," Gary said. "I've never had as much fun as I'm having now. I never get up with a feeling of hating to go to work, as some people do."

"I suppose it's because I'm still a fan myself, I still get a big thrill out of working with people I've admired for years—such as Duke Ellington and Ed Wynn. As a kid, I can remember standing outside a theater in Baltimore to get Ed Wynn's autograph. He's still a hero to me."

This quality of youthful enthusiasm is still one of the greatest assets of Moore, who feels he is lucky to have lasted so long and at present would like to go right on performing forever.

"Of course, you don't really retire in this business," he said with a wry smile. "You just wake up some morning and find they've retired you."

"Three or four years is an average lifetime on television, and already I figure I'm at least eight years to the good."

Garry has his own theory on how he and his program pals have managed to endure without boring their public.

"Our survival is probably the result of a remarkable lack of being spectacular," he said. "When you are spectacular, you have a skyrocket quality that can become so bright you burn yourself up."

At the ripe age of 47, Garry has this philosophy of life:

"It pays to remember to be grateful, and to forget the idea you have a right to be happy all the time. If you have one really happy hour every day, you're ahead of the game."

"If I got fired tomorrow, I'd have no cause for anything but gratitude—although they'd probably have to drag me out of the studio, kicking and screaming."

This is only one of 23 checks for quality made by Borden's to assure you milk that stays sweet and good.

Sure, our milk plant has a modern testing laboratory. We use the most accurate tests known to dairy science to assure the quality of Borden's Milk. But we don't stop with laboratory tests. You will be the final judge of Borden's quality and you will judge our milk on two counts. 1. Its flavor. 2. How long it stays sweet. That's why we test the taste and the keeping quality of Borden's Milk every day.

Aid for TV Education Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed into law today a bill providing federal aid toward expansion of educational television stations all over the country.

The measure authorizes appropriations of $32 million over a five-year period beginning July 1 for construction of educational television facilities. The federal aid is to be matched by educational institutions and nonprofit groups.

The bill represented a compromise between a Senate measure authorizing a $51-million program and a House authorization of $25 million.

The secretary of health, education and welfare would allocate the grants under the bill. To assure a wide distribution of the federal aid, the bill sets a million-dollar ceiling on the amount that could be provided in any one state.

A congressional report explaining the compromise bill said that although the Federal Communications Commission 10 years ago reserved 273 channels for educational television only 62 are in use. Yet, it said, a minimum need of 1,197 such channels has been indicated by national surveys.

- Elmdale Lake, 200 acres, Washington County.
- Bois D'Arc Reservoir, 700 acres, Hempstead County.
- Greenlee Lake, 400 acres, Monroe County.
- Distress Creek, 700 acres, Poinsett County.

Scheduled for completion later this year are Lake Pine Bluff in Jefferson County and Overcup Lake in Conway County.

Some of the lakes are in conjunction with the commission's public shooting grounds projects, but most are for fishing only.

The new lakes have made a significant contribution to the state's tourist industry.

Between 150,000 and 200,000 non-resident fishing licenses are sold in Arkansas annually, totals which regularly rank among the top half dozen in the United States.

A survey conducted in 1958 and 1959 set $13 million as the annual total spent in Arkansas by fishing visitors.

To keep 'em coming, good fishing has to be available — every year.

Sportsmen have discovered that the state operated lakes often provide better fishing than the more highly publicized float fishing streams and major Corps of Engineers reservoirs.

It's a return state officials believe is worth cultivating. Especially since it's a by-product to the main goal of providing Arkansians their favorite sport.

Sentence Quashed

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korean strongman Gen. Chung-hee Park today quashed a sentence of life imprisonment against the ruling military junta's former front man, Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young.

Park dismissed charges that Chang had tried to obstruct the military coup which overthrew the parliamentary government last May 1 and then tried to take full control of the junta.

Chang, army chief of staff at the time of the coup, became premier and chairman of the junta after the coup but Park, the architect of the coup, was the real power.

Fryers Best Market Buys Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fryers, broilers, and even stewing hens are a top main course attraction at the nation's supermarkets this week.
And so are eggs, with prices falling even lower in many areas than recent economy levels. One national chain features large white eggs at 48 cents a dozen in its New York outlets.
Fried eggs can be teamed up with pork chops or pork loin, both reasonably priced at most stores this weekend, for an easy-to-fix meal.
For heavier meals, most cuts of beef are budget priced again this weekend, with round, chuck and rib roasts particular features.
Rib roasts are priced at 59 cents a pound in the New York area by one big chain.
Milk prices are generally lower and cheese and cottage cheese are both attractively priced.
Radishes, carrots, spring onions and leafy greens offer solid treats at good prices.
And sweet corn and new potatoes provide side dish variety at lowering prices.
Among old standby vegetables, features include cabbage, spinach, tomatoes, asparagus and artichokes.
Fruit attractions are grapefruit, oranges and apples.

INHERIT THE EARTH—How many people have ever lived on earth? The answer is only an educated guess, but the Population Reference Bureau estimates 77 billion. They assume the emergence of man about 800,000 years ago. Some anthropologists would place it another million years before that. Of the 77 billion, only 12 billion lived before 6,000 B.C. It has taken hundreds of thousands of years for man's numbers to reach the present three billion. Yet in only 40 more years, if current trends continue, the population will double. In chart, Old Stone Age to be in scale should extend 35 feet to left.

U. S. Seeks to Exhibit in Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has proposed to the Soviet Union that an American exhibition be held in Moscow and Leningrad in view of the scheduled Soviet participation in the 1964-65 New York World's Fair.

The proposal follows the recent unexpected cancellation of plans for a world's fair in Moscow in 1967 on the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

The cancellation deprived the United States of an opportunity to put on a national exhibition in the Soviet capital such as the Soviet Union is presumed to be planning for the World's Fair in New York.

A few days ago the State Department, it was learned today, sent a note to the Soviet Embassy proposing an American exhibition in the Soviet Union at a mutually agreeable date to match the Soviet exhibit at the New York fair.

Last March 2 the Soviet government signed a contract for 78,000 square feet of space at the New York fair grounds at a rental cost of $468,000. The contract contained a provision for cancellation unless

Subjects in Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some results of satellite probes into space, and a look at the importance of sunshine on earth are subjects for science at work:
Winds of Space
Just how large are the clouds of cosmic gas traveling through space? How much cosmic radiation shoots through the reaches of our galaxy, the Milky Way?
Satellites gave astronomers and physicists a way to probe these mysteries, and at a recent meeting of the American Physical Society, some of the results were summarized.

Explorer XI, for instance, carried a telescope capable of seeing high energy gamma rays, tiny but powerful bullets of rays that travel in straight lines and are not affected by magnetic fields.

The cosmic gases are clouds of the hearts of hydrogen atoms. When cosmic rays hit these atomic hearts, gamma rays are produced.

By measuring the gamma rays, physicists can deduce how many hydrogen hearts or nuclei and how many cosmic rays there are—and perhaps, eventually, where these winds in space come from. Current studies indicate there may be many more cosmic rays and more gases than estimated earlier.

We and Our Shadow
The earth apparently casts a shadow in space. It isn't a shadow of light and dark, but only an area sheltered by earth and its magnetic field from the winds of charged gases that pour through our galaxy.

Satellites, ranging far out into space, have shown that this sort of sheltered area or shadow exists. Its exact limits are not known.

Are these winds of space pouring out from the sun? If so, the shadow area would be on the dark side of the earth. The satellite data indicates it might be there, or it might be slightly from a different angle, indicating that the winds of gas that the earth sees might come from some unknown source other than our sun.

Austrian Visits U. S.

VIENNA (AP)—Austrian Chancellor Alfons Gorbach left by plane for Washington today for talks with President Kennedy and other U.S. officials on Austria's plans to seek ties with the Common Market.

Gorbach was accompanied by Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky and State Secretary Ludwig Steiner.

Austria has announced it will seek an associate status in the European trade group.

SEATO Meets

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Top military planners of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization today began their semiannual review of the alliance's defense against the continuing Communist threat to the treaty area.

No major announcements were expected to come out of the three-day conference. SEATO's military deliberations are generally shy of the press.

the State Department within 60 days gave the Soviet government a statement of intention to participate in the 1967 Moscow fair.
In mid-April, before the United States had sent the letter of intent, it was announced in Moscow that the 1967 fair would not be held.

Four in Race for State Secretary

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Avon Phillips, 40, of Lonoke, an employee in the state Land Department, filed today as a candidate for secretary of state.
He was Lonoke County clerk for six years and his wife now holds that position.
Three others in the race are Milton Willis of Van Buren, Carroll Durham of Wynne and Kelly Bryant of Hope.

No Stand in Health Care Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican senators listened to an explanation of various health care plans for the aged today but came to no party stand on the politically explosive issue.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., chairman of the conference of all GOP senators, described it as an educational session at which "no effort was made to get a consensus of views."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, party floor leader, had said in advance of the session he hoped some consensus could be reached on a party position.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who did most of the explaining to the closed meeting, told newsmen afterward that he was encouraged at prospects of some Republican support for his health care proposal.

Javits noted that he sponsored bills in 1960 and 1961 which were based on financing out of general treasury revenues.

But he said he concluded this year the only health care legislation which could pass Congress would have to be based on increased Social Security taxes.

Therefore, he said, he modified his earlier measure to include such financing, but retained a proposal that beneficiary could take the federal aid and put it into a private insurance plan. This would be an alternative to government-administered plans.

The White House proposal does not contain the private insurance provision.

Something New

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomats invited to a White House reception tonight will find something new added—dancing in the famous Blue Room.

A trio of Marine Corps musicians will provide the dance music for some 300 guests at the affair.

President and Mrs. Kennedy will be hosts to ambassadors and heads of the foreign missions in Washington, plus Cabinet members, House Speaker John W. McCormack, Chief Justice Earl Warren and top State Department officials.

School Bids Taken

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ford Lumber Co., of Clarksville is the apparent low bidder, at $42,500, on construction of a six-classroom elementary school at Ozark in Johnson County. The addition will replace a building that recently burned.

Negro Seeks Office

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — William J. Martin, 51, a Negro, filed Tuesday as a candidate for Ward 2 alderman here. Martin, a native of North Little Rock, attended Shorter College and spent three years in the Army.

Daylight Saving Time

The Summer Time Act, passed as a war economy during WW I brought Daylight Saving Time to England — and confusion to the trenches in France. All nations, including Germany, were forced to change their clocks and thus, re-synchronize the war.

In 1918, President Wilson signed a bill introducing D.S.T. to the United States. It has always been opposed by farmers who were forced to change their livestock's schedules in order to reach the market before closing.

New used in 27 states (and 10 foreign countries) D.S.T. affects interstate phone calls or traveling. Confused about which way to turn the clock on April 29? Markers of the Westclox Baby Day after this tip: "You Spring forward and you Fall back!"

Nobody Can Control the TV Plugs

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Under the television code and general practice, the sponsors' commercials are strictly limited in time and quantity. Apparently, however, no one controls those other, incidental commercials—the ones called "plugs"—which are mixed into game shows, panel shows, variety shows and, most of all, interview shows with a lavish hand.

California originated editions of NBC's "Tonight" were prime examples of the drowsy practice. At most all of these big name guests who dropped into the program were given all the time they wanted to sell their latest movie, advertise upcoming night club engagements, hold up the covers of their latest record albums and so on.

On the panel shows, it has become almost routine to introduce the "celebrity guests" by reciting off their recent activities which usually are implicit invitations to the public to buy something—tickets, books or records. The built-in plugs of the audience participation programs are those of the manufacturers who provide the gift merchandise—the camera, perfume, washers, driers.

None of these interludes constitutes entertainment by any stretch of the imagination. While, as somebody once remarked, watching the sponsor commercials is the first penalty one must pay for the fun, amusement or enlightenment that surrounds them, it would seem only fair to include all those extra plugs the guests throw in, in the commercial time allowance.

Television might have a hard time looking big-name expensive guests and making arrangements for fabulous prizes if it cut out the plugs. Expelling a film or an album is usually the only purpose of a celebrity's appearance.

There's good news from CBS today. "Oh, Those Bells," the alleged comedy series which was a midseason replacement and which made the failing series it replaced look awfully good, will be pulled out of the network schedules in June. Replacement will be a summer series of "Ac cent" programs.

"Accent" is a high-level, intelligent series which has hitherto been seen in impossible time periods: at first, around noon on Saturdays and more recently early Sunday afternoons.

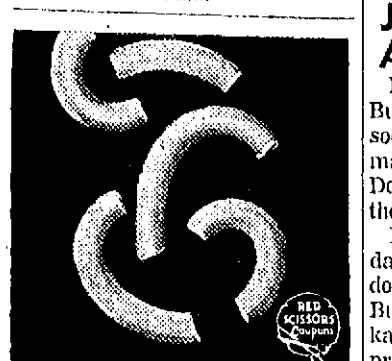

NBC has lined up an hour-long discussion show—live—between Astronaut John H. Glenn and Cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov and two interpreters for Sunday May 6, when the two will exchange views and ideas.

Negro Held in Death of Youth

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—Jesse Franklin, a 35-year-old Negro, is being held in the county jail here in connection with the death Sunday of Donald Clyde Burton, 13, as he hitchhiked near the Mississippi River bridge.

Police said Franklin was arrested Sunday, but has not been formally arraigned.

Young Burton was struck by a pickup truck as he stood near the bridge, Police said.

Dream Room

An all-American favorite, the rose, inspires this bedroom decorating scheme reflecting the new trend in home decor of the ensemble look. Draperies and coverlet are of a fabric which identically matches the full-blown rose pattern of the wallpaper. Called Rose Regale, this combination of fabric and wallpaper possesses the decorating magic to transform any room of the house into a royal suite. A gay idea from the United Wallpaper Company, Rose Regale is from the new Trimz collection of do-it-yourself preprepared papers with matching fabrics in luxurious combed cotton saten. And it promises a rosy future for the homemakers who choose this charming duo in one of three colors: blue and lilac; gold or blushing pink. The pattern of roses and gold grillwork repeats itself every 22 inches to impart a spacious, airy feeling boding many pleasant dreams.

Reds Don't Harm Two Americans

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two American Army sergeants released by Communist guerrillas said the Reds kept them bound during their 22 days of captivity but fed them regularly on rice. They said they suffered no brutality.

Sgt. Francis Quinn of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and George E. Groom of St. Joseph, Mo., freed in what appeared to be a May Day gesture, looked weary from their ordeal but in good shape otherwise as they arrived in Saigon by plane Tuesday night.

Denying reports they had been led through villages as propaganda exhibits, they told interrogating officers they were held the entire 22 days atop a mountain near where they were captured April 8. Still wearing the camouflage uniforms and berets of the Army Special Forces, they were released less than five miles from the spot outside the coastal town of Da Nang where they were ambushed with two other American soldiers and 31 Vietnamese trainees.

The other Americans, Sgt. Wayne E. Marchand of Plattsmouth, Neb., and Spec. 5 James Gabriel of Honolulu, were wounded and their bodies later found two miles from the ambush scene. Quinn and Groom said they had carried their wounded comrades for more than a mile until the Viet Cong guerrillas ordered them put down. They said they did not witness the final moments of the two, who apparently were murdered because they were slowing the Viet Cong escape.

The sergeants said the Communists gave no reason for freeing them. After their release, it took 2 1/2 hours to make their way down the mountainside, led by a mountaineer who worked for the guerrillas.

Justice Challenged About Buffalo R.

MARSHALL, Ark. (AP)—The Buffalo River Improvement Association Tuesday challenged remarks of Justice William O. Douglas about the preservation of the stream in its natural state.

Douglas, when he arrived Sunday at Ponca for a 10-mile float down the river, told reporters the Buffalo was unique and said Arkansas should try at all costs to preserve it in its free-flowing state.

The association, which advocates construction of dams on the river for purposes of improving area economy, said Douglas didn't know the arguments raised by those who support development of the stream.

The association also sent a tele-

Genes Govern the Destiny of Humans

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Much of human destiny is governed by genes, the tiny miraculous agents of heredity.

Genes determine inherited characteristics, from eye color to intelligence, susceptibility to some diseases, the potential for long life.

What effects nuclear fallout has on genes is one of the worrisome questions surrounding atomic tests. Recent scientific findings, including the story gathered from one million mice here, are putting the answer in better focus.

It's long been known that genes mutate or change spontaneously. Mishaps occur when new genes are assembled in body cells. Heat and chemicals can cause mutations. So can radiation. Mutations in genes are generally considered to be harmful, only occasionally resulting in an improvement in evolution.

Scientists assume background radiation causes some spontaneous mutations. Various experts think it causes from one fourth to 140th of all spontaneous mutations.

Fallout has added a little bit to natural radiation, so they assume fallout must also be contributing to human genetic changes.

Note the word "assume." For the experts' concern stems largely from radiation studies with fruitflies, mice, and other animals, plus some observations of humans. Hefty exposures to X rays produce mutations. The bigger the dose, the more mutations.

So, playing it cautiously, geneticists assume any amount of radiation affects some genes, even the small amount from natural radiation, and the 5 per cent or so increase over that from fallout.

They assume there is no threshold, no amount so low it wouldn't affect some genes, sometime. They've also suspected that one hit on a gene from radiation could act to mutate that gene. They formerly believed it didn't matter whether a given dosage of radiation was received all at once, or spread over a long period of time—the mutation effect would be the same.

Some of these ideas are altered by the findings of Dr. William L. Russell, his wife Dr. Liane B. Russell and coworkers at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, operated for the Atomic Energy Commission by Union Carbide Corp.

They work with a colony of about 100,000 mice—and a million have served in the genetic studies since 1950.

Lobbyist Dies in Virginia

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Christian Peter Norgord, 87, an agriculturist and lobbyist, died Monday night after an illness of several months.

Born in Fredericksheaven, Denmark, he was a professor of agronomy at the universities of Wisconsin and Arkansas. A pioneer in tuberculosis testing of cattle, he was Wisconsin's commissioner of agriculture from 1915 to 1923, when he became assistant commissioner of agriculture for New York State.

Prehistoric men cultivate the banana in India and the Malay Archipelago.

Outdoor Living

Ancient Greeks, lovers of the outdoors, were the first civilized society to originate the outdoor barbecue. From noblemen to merchants, they believed food cooked out of doors was flavored by the gods and imbued the eater with strength and health.

Holding court in the out of doors, France's King Louis XIV turned his palace grounds into a playground for grownups. Cabinet ministers and diplomats gambled on see-saws and swings, played such games as "Drop the Handkerchief," and "Who's Got the Thimble."

Modern equipment makers, catering to the outdoor trend in America have developed new lawn and leisure furnishings for outdoor living. Newest of these is a lawn and Garden Port, an all-steel "beach-side cabana" for the backyard! Made by Arrow Metal Products Corp., N.Y., it has a weatherproof Pressure-coated plastic finish inside and out, is assembled at home in an hour, making a novel companion-piece to the outdoor barbecue.

Police said Coke's arm became caught in a chip conveyor.

No Relaxing in World Tensions

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, arriving here for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting, told newsmen today he saw no prospect of immediate relaxation of world tensions. "For the immediate future I wish I could hold out a prospect for relaxation but I cannot," Rusk said in an airy statement. But he said the tide of freedom "is in the long term indeed irresistible as long as there are those who will work and sacrifice for that cause."

He praised Greece which, he said, has an especially warm place in the hearts of Americans because of its ancient heritage and the dedication of its people to liberty.

Foreign and defense ministers from the nations of NATO will make one of their periodic appraisals of NATO politics, touching on the Berlin situation, nuclear power and East-West relations, in sessions here.

TV Treat—Waffles!

HAVE DESSERT WHILE YOU WATCH TV! Make it an "instant" success with frozen waffles and this luscious vanilla filling, served with maple buttered syrup. And for another TV session, try sandwiching two waffle sections with about three tablespoons of this fruit mixture; 1 cup canned apple sauce and ¾ cup of dark, seedless raisins. Serve with plenty of buttered syrup.

CREAM-FILLED WAFFLES

½ cup whipping cream
1 cup cold milk
1 package instant vanilla pudding mix

18 frozen waffles
Country Kitchen
Buttered Syrup

Whip cream and set aside. Measure milk into mixing bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat slowly with egg beater just until well mixed—about 1 minute. Let stand about 2 minutes. Fold whipped cream into pudding. Chill about 1 hour.

Toast or broil frozen waffles as directed on package. Cool. Stir chilled filling. Spread between 2 waffle sections, using about ¾ cup for each. Serve with buttered syrup. Makes 9 servings.

One For My Dame

By JACK WEBB

"The Story." Two police officers are questioning Rick Jackson on the mysterious disappearance of Carla, daughter of Congressman DiMucci.

CHAPTER 4
Holmes told Geiser and Hagopian where they could go, when I opened the door. It tickled both of them. When the mynah saw he had an appreciative audience he reverted to type and gave both barrels. Geiser shot a thoughtful glance in my direction. "You teach him all this, Mr. Jackson?"

"No," I said. "I thought I was getting a bargain in a bird before he opened his mouth. He does know some nice words, too. I've been working on that."

Geiser noticed the blanket tucked over the back of the sofa. "Is that what you fixed for Miss DiMucci to sleep on while she was here?"

"No," I said. "That's for the dog. I pulled it off before I put her down."

"And when she became ill?"
"She took care of that herself. If you'll allow me an opinion, Lieutenant, she's not the sort of girl who's used to the kind of drinking she had done."

"What do you mean by that?"
Hagopian had wandered over to stick a finger in Tina's cage. I prayed she wouldn't nip off the end of it.

"When she was feeling better and sitting there on the edge of the sofa drinking a glass of milk we talked about my friends here. She seemed like a genuine and nice person."

"I take it you don't like drunks."

"Not drunk drunks," I said. "Yet you frequent bars?"

"Every night after I close shop I walk down to the Limerick Club and have two martinis with George. It's a little more expensive that way, but I find it better than drinking alone."

"Last night you said you drove."

"Last night was Wednesday. That's double-stamp day at the Market-Day store down at the intersection. It's the night I usually do my shopping for the week."

Hagopian stopped playing with Tina and turned around to stare at me.

"So I'm an old maid," I said. "It's the way I live, Lieutenant. Routine's important to me, real important." Hagopian's stare was making me nervous again.

Geiser said, "It's easy to see. The cleanliness of your place downstairs shows that. Generally I don't like pet shops. They smell. There's dirt around the corners. Yours isn't like that. I'd come back, and I don't like seeing animals in cages. Never have."

"When Miss DiMucci left you said you called a cab. Which?"

"Veteran's. One of the blue-and-white ones."

"You saw the cab?"

"I did."

"And the driver?"

"Sure. I took her down the stairs."

"Can you describe him?"

I thought about it. I hadn't been much interested in him. "Small," I said. "On the fat side. One of those silly little toothbrush mustaches."

"Then you could identify him if you saw him again?"

"I think so."

Hagopian's stare swung from me to the Lieutenant. Geiser said to me, "Maybe you better get a hat and a coat, raincoat, too, from the look of the weather."

"Where are we going?" It had come so suddenly I could feel the jump in my pulse. The lightrope was swinging wild, bouncing.

"Take a look at a man," Geiser said.

The relief came so fast it made me angry. "I've got a business to run, Lieutenant. If you've got a cab driver can't you bring him here?"

"Hardly."

"Why not?" I demanded.

Geiser's answer was as abrupt as my demand.

"Because he's in the city morgue," Lieutenant Geiser said.

The cab driver's name was Silvio Gronchi. He had been 45 years of age and was survived by a widow and seven children. He and his cab had been discovered on the rocks below a cliff on Palos Verde Drive. The cab had burned during and after the plunge, but some freak circumstance had thrown Gronchi free of the vehicle on the way down, leaving no doubt whatsoever that a sharp instrument had pierced the base of his skull before the cab took its final ride. All this I learned later.

I said to the Lieutenant, "That's the driver, all right."

"You weren't so sure you'd know him," Geiser said.

"I'd forgotten," I said. "That white line of scar that gives the left side of his mustache that odd tilt, I remember thinking that the scar was why he had grown the mustache. Not really thinking, just one of those things that passes."

Please, now, could we get out of here?"

Hagopian spoke. "You don't much like seeing him like that, Mr. Jackson?"

"I was in Camp 5," I said, "on

Medics to End Convention

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Medical Society ends its 86th annual convention here today with election and installation of officers scheduled at morning business sessions.

Dr. H. King Wade Jr. of Hot Springs was installed as president of the organization Tuesday night. He had been named president-elect of the society last year.

The some 400 delegates to the convention heard Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the American Farm Bureau Federation, attack the social security approach to medical care.

Dr. William A. Snodgrass, president of the society, presented the University of Arkansas school of medicine with a check for $8,070. The money is part of over $1 million given to medical schools during 1961 by doctors in the nation.

Literacy Test Bill Showdown Next Week

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marathon debate on the administration's literacy test bill swung into its eighth day today with Senate leadership pressing for showdown votes next week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was making an advance claim that he could muster enough votes to clamp a filibuster-ending time limit on the debate being waged by Southern senators fighting the measure.

The bill seeks to prevent racial discrimination in voting in federal elections by prohibiting the states from barring the ballot on literacy grounds to any otherwise qualified citizen who has completed a sixth-grade education.

A two-thirds majority of senators voting is needed to invoke cloture—the Senate term for a debate limit. Mansfield and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois announced to the Senate Tuesday that they would file a cloture petition Monday on a timetable which would bring it to a vote next Wednesday.

Southern senators are fighting the bill as an unwarranted and unconstitutional invasion of states' rights. Its backers contend it is needed to protect Negroes and other minorities from discriminatory, sometimes impossible tests of their literacy.

Mansfield said he is firm in his decision against proposals that he try to wear down opposition to the bill by holding the Senate in endless session until those opposed to the measure quit talking.

"I don't believe in the use of force," Mansfield told a reporter, "and it wouldn't change my votes anyway, in my opinion."

Five Southern Democrats—John Stennis of Mississippi, Strom Thurmond and Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, Russell B. Long of Louisiana and George A. Smathers of Florida—took turns Tuesday speaking against the bill. For the most part, backers of the measure have let Southerners carry the burden of debate.

Benson Backs Out of Senate Race

SEARCY, Ark. (AP)—Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding College, told the school's student body and faculty this morning he will not run against Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.

Benson, chairman of the National Education Program, had said he was considering opposing Fulbright.

Benson said he had received requests to run from all parts of the state from "good, longtime friends and many others who are much concerned with current trends in American government."

He said his life up to this point had been spent entirely in Christian education.

"While the School of American Studies has emphasized sound economics and good government," Benson said, "it has always remained non-partisan. There are thousands of people today with a keener interest in good government because of Harding College and because of the National Education Program."

"After thorough and prayerful

Vote on School Consolidation

WYNNE, Ark. (AP)—Voters in Wynne and Cherry Valley voted today on whether to consolidate the two school systems.

The polls opened at 8:30 a.m. and will close at 6:30 p.m. A light vote was expected. Only 14 votes were cast in the first hour the polls were open.

If the voters approve the plan, Cherry Valley junior and high school students will attend at Wynne. Cherry Valley elementary students will continue at Cherry Valley, and Wynne elementary students will continue at Wynne.

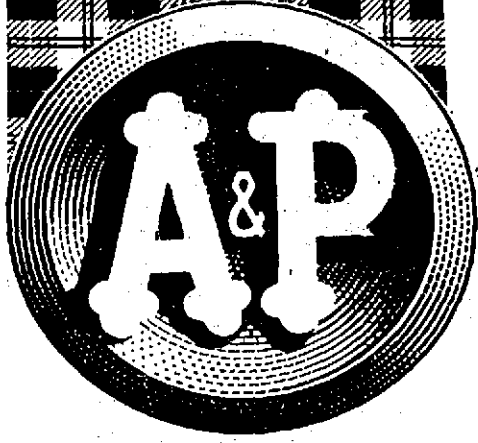

consideration," Benson said, "it is my firm conclusion that I should remain in my chosen field where I have longtime experience and where I can perhaps continue to render my best service."

In order to build the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C., a swamp beside the Potomac had to be reclaimed and filled.

DENIM MEN OF AMERICA

CLAY AND POTTERY WORKERS

Squeeze two tiny ceramic engine parts, the size of cigarette filters, and they'll generate 15,000 volts of electricity...to start the engine! Introduced this year, this revolutionary ignition system is the newest step in the centuries-old art of ceramics. In Space Age electronics, ceramic parts are vital in sonar equipment, missile-tracking and medical research. Clay and pottery items are made by 106,000 denim-clad workers—who mix the clays in huge machines, and bake them in kilns at temperatures up to 1,458° F! Every year ceramic workers in denim make $20 million worth of dinnerware... as well as ornaments, lamp bases, plumbing fixtures, bricks, tiles and structural products such as sewer pipes. Newly-discovered "electric" ceramics are used in hi-fi cartridges, and TV remote-control units!
